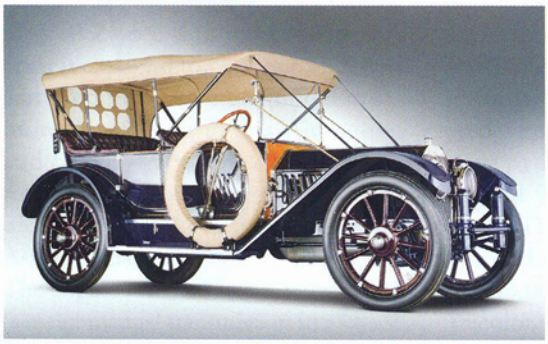
A hull of a good time, and mechanical music to collectors' ears. . . .

PLEASURE CRUISER ✳ Like its closed-top sibling, the Hedonist Open (www.artofkinetik.com) is 62 feet long and achieves a top speed of 48 mph, courtesy of three MAN r6 800hp engines paired with three Rolls-Royce water jets. The all-mahogany-hulled craft, by Serbian manufacturer Art of Kinetik, stows a three-person tender that can be launched using the boat's built-in crane. Amidships is an open-air lounge, and the area belowdecks can be made to include two or three cabins, a small galley, and a shower. The vessel requires 12,000 hours of sanding to prep it for its 18 layers of varnish—thus the wait between ordering and delivery is at least a year. . . .



STRIKING CARS AND CHORDS ✳ Collectibles ranging from a 1912 Oldsmobile Limited Tourabout to antique mechanical musical instruments will be up for bid February 24 and 25 at RM Auctions' Milhous Collection sale (www.rmauctions.com). The auction, conducted in association with Sotheby's, will take place at the Milhous Museum in Boca Raton, Fla. In addition to cars and instruments, the sale will include the Americana, antique furniture, clocks, decorative arts, firearms, and slot machines that brothers Bob and Paul Milhous acquired over the past five decades. Among the mechanical-instrument lots is a Ruth Style 38-B fair organ valued at $1 million or more. The Tourabout has an estimated value of about $1.5 million. . . .

TOUCH THE STARS ✳ Thanks to the English mobile-phone maker's first-ever touchscreen, the Vertu Constellation (www.vertu.com) offers easier access to Vertu's concierge services. The 3.5-inch high-definition AMOLED display, protected by a layer of sapphire crystal, can be used to request private-club access, private-security details, and advice from such experts as wine merchant Berry Bros. & Rudd. Launched in October, the Constellation is priced from $5,600 to $13,800 (for the red-gold edition). . . .
